Daksh Bharadwaj, 13
Ashiana Umang

PLAY BUILDS PURPOSE

Daksh picked up a badminton racquet in 2021 through Ashiana's Live & Learn Programme.

What started as an after-school hobby soon grew into a deep passion.

Through consistent practice and encouragement from his coaches and community, Daksh went on to win four district titles each in the Under-13 and Under-15 categories, and has reached multiple state-level quarterfinals.

Now preparing for his fourth State Under-15 Championship in Bhilwara, Daksh continues to push his limits, proving that the right space and support can turn play into purpose.

Divyam Singh, 14
Ashiana Umang

FROM READER TO YOUNG INNOVATOR

An avid reader at Ashiana Umang's Learning Hub Library, Divyam wanted to make borrowing books easier for everyone.

Without any formal training in coding or design, he spent a year learning, experimenting, and building under the guidance of the Kid Centric team and expert mentors.

After twenty prototypes, Divyam created FACK — the Flexible Automated Catalogue Kit, an RFID-enabled system that allows readers to browse, filter, and issue books independently while tracking reading time.

His journey from curiosity to innovation proves that when children are given the space to explore, they can create solutions that truly make a difference.

Avani Chauhan, 12
Ashiana Umang

THE ART OF BECOMING

Under Ashiana's Live & Learn programme, Avani's quiet love for colour blossomed into something extraordinary. What began as simple sketches soon grew into artworks that carried emotion, imagination, and a sense of wonder only she could see.

Her talent has earned recognition across the country, a Bronze Medal at the Khula Aasman National Art Competition under the theme Environment and Forests, a state-level win in the SIP Abacus Poster Making Contest held in collaboration with the Rajasthan State Transport Department, 3rd Position in the National Painting Competition by Kidsology India on the theme Patriotism, and a 12th Rank in the National Hashtag Kalakar Art Competition.

Encouraged by the Kid Centric environment and nurtured at the Learning Hub, Avani continues to explore, express, and shine, reminding us that when creativity is given space, it becomes a voice.

Yuvraj Gautam, 12
Ashiana Anmol

THE YOUNG WARRIOR WHO WON THE WORLD

In the rhythm of practice and the discipline of routine, Yuvraj found a passion that shaped him from within. Through three years of training at Ashiana's Live & Learn programme, every session strengthened his focus, confidence, and belief in what he could become.

That dedication carried him onto the global stage at the MBW International Taekwondo Championship, where he competed with over 2,500 athletes from 14 countries, returning with a Gold Medal in Kyorugi and a Bronze Medal in Poomsae, bringing immense pride to his family and community.

His journey is a powerful reminder that when a child is supported with the right guidance and environment, their potential doesn't just grow, it soars.

Now It's Your Child's Turn

Every dream begins with a single thought, a wish to become something more.

Here's a space to let that wish take shape.
